

ABSTRACT

A material for acoustic apparatus housing, which is advantageous not only in that it prevents the resin from 5 suffering corrosion and is unlikely to impose a burden on the environment, but also in that it has excellent performance as an acoustic apparatus housing. A material for acoustic apparatus housing, characterized in that it comprises a biodegradable polymer compound, an inorganic material, and 10 a hydrolysis inhibitor.